

TORN BY THE WAVES. The schooner George R. Skolfield, of Boston, which went ashore off Corsons Inlet, New Jersey, last February is slowly being battered to pieces. Several attempts to salvage the ship have been made.

ONE OF THE LIFEBOATS. Children at Corsons Inlet make good use of the lifeboat, washed ashore from the George H. Skolfield. Bill Carothers and his dog were on hand yesterday.

MR. AND MRS. E. H. SOTHERN. Mr. Sothern and his wife, known to lovers of Shakespeare as Julia Marlowe, returning after tour in Europe.

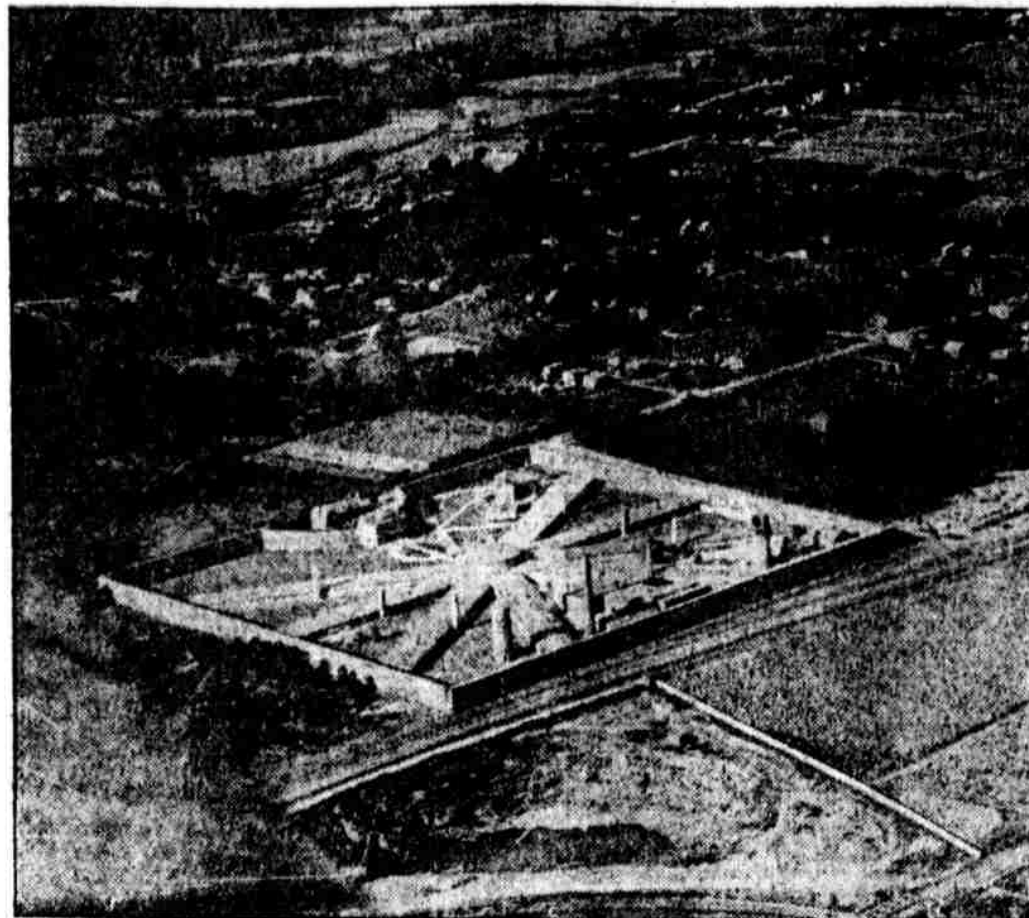

LOADING FOR WILSON SNIPE. Michael Stackhouse, Barnegat, N. J., with his dog "Missy," doing a big business in snipe hunting at Barnegat.

WOMEN'S NATIONAL CHAMPION HERE TODAY. Miss Alexa Stirling will play in the Berthel Cup tournament at Huntingdon Valley Country Club.

ARMENIAN GIRL WHO FOUGHT TURKS. This photograph was brought to America by a Near-East relief worker.

HOLMESBURG PRISON. The photograph was taken by a staff photographer of the Evening Public Ledger from the Ledger's newsplane. The eight wings of the Philadelphia county prison are clearly shown, as is the entrance.

PETS ON A DESTROYER. The "gobs" like interesting mascots. The dog and the kitten in the cannon's mouth are aboard the Semmes.

AT HOT SPRINGS. Mrs. Alexander Biddle, of Philadelphia, with one of her horses at the Virginia resort. They are still wearing straw hats down there.

NOT VERY ANXIOUS FOR EATS. The orang-utan, a new addition to the Washington Zoo, being presented with a cracker by a baby caller.

ACTIVE ATHLETES. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bates, both eighty-three years old, competitors in an archery contest, Regents Park, London.

WHAT ROCKAWAY WIND DID. The house was blown from its foundation and lifted over against the elevated tracks at Hamel Station, Rockaway, N. Y. Passengers on the trains look into the upper rooms.

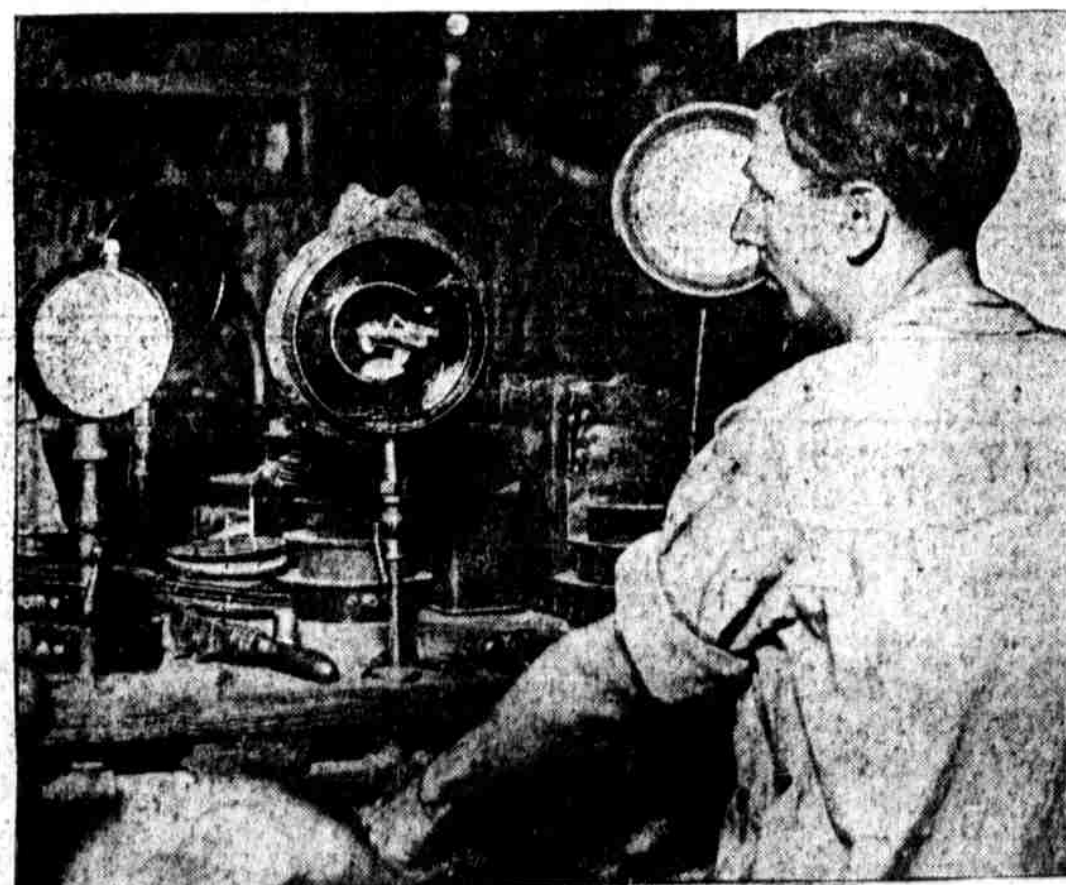

DR. J. KRAUSKOPF discusses farm lands for immigrants in an interview on the editorial page.

MISS JULIA STIMSON, superintendent of the U. S. army nurse corps, who is making a tour of the western stations.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

TESTING GAUGES. Following the manufacturer of many types of gauges, at the Belfield Co. factory, 435 North Broad street, they are tested on high-pressure machines. The workman is Frederick Welden, 2017 South Fifteenth street.

TWO PHILADELPHIANS. Craig Biddle (left) and William T. Tilden, 2d, who played in the finals at Hot Springs, Va. Tilden defeated Biddle.

MRS. HENRY BRINTON COXE as she watched the races at the Whitmarsh Valley Hunt Club meeting.

HERE TO PLAN GREAT TERMINAL. Sir Alfred Booth, chairman of the Cunard Line, and Desos W. Cooke, its managing director (left to right), arriving in New York to arrange for the proposed $20,000,000 Cunard terminal.

THE BEAUTY CORNER

MISS MARTHA JUDD 4518 North Uber street Philadelphia.